Megan Taylor

Megan is a Clinical Psychologist with over twenty four years experience working with adults, adolescents, young children and their families.

Frazzled parents often despair that kids don't come with an instruction manual. This information session will provide information and tips to help parents navigate the many challenges presented in raising a child. A positive approach to parenting creates resilient, balanced kids.

We will cover:

- Understanding some of the factors that contribute to challenging behaviours
- Tips for encouraging and shaping positive behaviour
- Developing a calm and consistent approach for responding to negative behaviour
